DETAILED ACTION

1. The drawings were received on December 13, 2005. These drawings are acceptable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 12-14, 16 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 12, line 2, "the server" is vague and indefinite because the server recited in claim 1 has already been defined as a CTI server. How can the CTI server also comprise a telecommunications server since the specification indicates that the server can be either a CTI server or a telecommunications server? It is further confusing because the server recited in claim 1 is also already connected to one or more private automatic branch exchanges by a computer link through at least one interface.

Claims 13 and 14 depend on claim 12.

Claims 16 and 20 basically have identical limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Begeja et al. (Begeja; US 6,141,545; cited and applied for the first time).

Regarding claims 1, 7, 12 (as best understood), 15, and 18, the claimed invention reads on Begeja as follows. Refer to FIG. 1 and to column 4, line 47 – column 5, line 6 of Begeja where the claimed private automatic branch exchanges read on PBX 101. The claimed CTI server/telecommunications server reads on the TERMINAL SERVER 110. The claimed interfaces read on the MODEM 111 and Begeja teaches that it appears to the PBX 101 as a station set on the PBX (connected to telephone lines). And Begeja also plainly teaches the claimed function of sending/converting control signals corresponding to service requests to drive the PBX 101.

The system of Begeja is directed to remote call forwarding which is read on the telephone services of claims 2-6, 13, and 14. The limitations of claims 8-11, 16, 17, 19, and 20 are considered inherent to the system of Begeja and deemed most basic to any call routing/service system since without such features the system would fail.

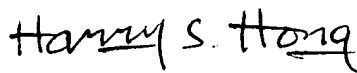

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
